

It has recently been brought to my attention that the fcc is considering mandating the "broadcast flag" for new technologies. I oppose this proposal on the grounds that it does nothing for consumers but take rights away. Please consider that the government of this country is supposed to represent the interests of the people of this country, not just powerful corporations.

I regret that I do not have the time to further articulate my opposition to this new law; consider the opinions of the EFF (Electronic Frontier Foundation) to be the same as my own.

Thank you for your time

Colin Bonderman